BROKER’S REMARKS
The Excess 11 combines modern styling and enjoyable sailing with a layout that is simple to live with. The twin helm arrangement keeps the cockpit open and sociable while giving the helmsman good visibility, which suits relaxed island hopping with family and friends.
Four double cabins are arranged across the two hulls, with the bow berths adding flexibility for extra guests. The saloon is bright and opens directly onto the cockpit, and the seating areas, full cushion set and protected helm stations make her comfortable at anchor and underway.
The sail plan is easy to handle short-handed, and the engines and sail drives were serviced in December 2025. She is well equipped, with a tender, outboard and cruising inventory included, and she is now ashore, which allows easy inspection of the hulls and underwater gear. The asking price has recently been reduced, and she is offered at a realistic price. The new owner can step aboard with confidence, and early viewing is recommended.
